

2025 GLOBAL INVESTORS' SYMPOSIUM

The second Milken Institute Global Investors' Symposium in Hong Kong returns on March 24, 2025. Across the event, senior executives and influential leaders from business, finance, technology, health care, and philanthropy will come together to explore new opportunities to enhance capital markets, activate impactful investments, encourage sustainable practices, and improve health and well-being.

Discussions at this Symposium will seek to explore areas for investment across sectors and geographies and how business leaders can capitalize on recent economic, finance, and policy shifts in China, the Asia Pacific, and global markets. The event endeavors to facilitate the exchange of ideas, encourage partnerships, and drive capital allocation that would spur innovation and growth.

Join us at the Global Investors' Symposium in Hong Kong and connect with peers and individuals whose capital, clout, and creativity are transforming the best ideas into purposeful action, improving livelihoods and well-being, and opening more pathways for people to enjoy shared prosperity.
