

GLOBAL INVESTORS' SYMPOSIUM

*Connecting Global Markets:
Navigating Risk to Unlock Growth*

OCTOBER 22, 2025

MEXICO CITY

The 2025 Milken Institute Global Investors' Symposium in Mexico will convene senior executives, policymakers, global investors, and industry leaders at a defining moment for the country and the region. After a successful inaugural event last year, the Symposium returns to spotlight Mexico's growing influence in global markets and its expanding role as a hub for investment and innovation.

With a new administration prioritizing security, foreign relations, and industrial policy, Mexico has a unique opportunity to leverage its natural resources, human capital, and technological innovation to attract global investment. Its expanding role in global supply chains highlights its resilience and reliability amid a rapidly shifting geopolitical landscape.

Centered on the theme Connecting Global Markets: Navigating Risk to Unlock Growth, the Symposium will offer a day of public and private sessions designed to spark dialogue, foster cross-sector collaboration, and accelerate investment.

Join us in Mexico to engage with global leaders, explore emerging opportunities, and help shape a more connected and prosperous future.
