

EUROPEAN GLOBAL LEADERS ROUNDTABLE

The Milken Institute connects global leaders from business and government who catalyze change through policy and business innovations.

The Institute provides a platform for these leaders to share experiences and debate opportunities for change. We develop actionable research on a number of key topics, including health, philanthropic giving, sustainability, and regional economic development.

Our signature conferences and summits bring together the Milken Institute's broad network of global leaders in finance, business, health, government, science, and philanthropy—people with the vision and resources to make a significant impact.

EUROPEAN PROGRAMMING

Within the UK and Europe, the Milken Institute hosts high-level, curated events that bring leaders together in a series of relaxed settings to discuss focused issues with clear options for action. These engaging events include participants from multiple disciplines to debate topics in depth and share their views. A strategic theme infuses the annual program, ensuring that the learnings from one gathering can be developed further in the next. A significant figure with subject-matter expertise leads each event and advances the debate.

Our events are held in private clubs, hotels, and residences. They bring together the perspectives and insights of renowned experts, outside commentators, and business and political leaders from around the world who share their diverse viewpoints to the discussion.
