

EUROPE BUSINESS COUNCIL

The Europe Business Council is a convening of regional leaders dedicated to facilitating conversations that drive prosperity and advance solutions to the region's economic and social challenges.

This is a unique forum bringing together influential figures and leaders from the investment, business, philanthropy, and policy communities to hear from high-profile speakers from around the globe.

Launched in 2025, members of the Europe Business Council are coming together at a time of intensifying geopolitical pressure. Europe is renewing its efforts to strengthen its defence posture, establish leadership in the technologies of the future, and build climate resilience. Close collaboration is needed to discuss challenges and solutions that are equitable, have public support, and leverage public and private investment.

With its global network, deep connections with both the policy and investor communities, and ability to serve as a transatlantic bridge, the Milken Institute is uniquely positioned to bring about the collaboration needed to catalyse change in Europe.

The Europe Business Council is a premier membership opportunity for senior business leaders seeking to explore other viewpoints, broaden their networks, and contribute to discussions that will enhance Europe's competitiveness on the global stage.
